

JOHN GUNTHER'S name needs little introduction to the reading public, for he is the well-known author of the equally well-known "Inside" books, including Inside U.S.A., Inside Asia, Inside Africa, and Inside Russia Today. Nor is he a stranger to younger readers who know his first World Landmark Book, Alexander The Great, and The Golden Fleece, a title in the new Legacy Series issued by Random House.

A well-traveled man, Mr. Gunther is rarely in one place very long, for he is always off on a new journey to gather fresh material for his latest project.

Born in Chicago, John Gunther was graduated from the University of Chicago. At the present time, Mr. Gunther and his wife live in New York City.

JOSEPH CELLINI escaped from Hungary at the time of the Revolution in 1957. Today he lives in New York City with his wife, Eva, who is also an artist. Mr. Cellini reports that they love America and are kept busy learning English.

In Budapest, Joseph Cellini illustrated historical themes and did posters and promotion on all local dignitaries. Julius Caesar is the fourth book Mr. Cellini has illustrated since his arrival in this country.
