

About the author of this book:

RALPH MOODY has many friends among the Ute, Navaho and Apache Indians and has listened to their stories of adventures since his childhood. As a boy in Colorado, he was able to discuss the exploits of Geronimo with several of the men who took part in the war against the famous renegade.

Mr. Moody was born in New Hampshire but moved to Colorado at an early age and was schooled there. He now lives near San Francisco.

About the illustrator of this book:

NICHOLAS EGGENHOFER was born near Munich in Bavaria and came to America at the age of sixteen. He was an avid follower of the old West and its stories even in Europe and when he arrived here, he made careful studies of the colorful past. His talent as an artist made it possible for him to earn his living drawing Western illustrations. He is one of the best known illustrators in this field.

Mr. Eggenhofer lives in West Milford, New Jersey.
