

About the author of this book:

THOMAS B. COSTAIN, Canadian-born citizen of the United States, has made the field of writing his life's career. For fourteen years he was Chief Associate Editor of the Saturday Evening Post. He next became a story editor for 20th Century Fox Film Corp., and from 1939 to 1946 he was Advisory Editor for Doubleday and Company.

In recent years, however, he has devoted his time exclusively to his own writing. He is the author of four books of history and ten novels, including The Black Rose, The Silver Chalice, and Below The Salt. He wrote the Landmark Book, The Mississippi Bubble, for Random House.

In 1952 the honorary degree of Doctor of Letters was conferred on him by the University of Western Ontario.

About the illustrator of this book:

JACK COGGINS was born in London and came to the United States as a boy. After studying at the Grand Central School of Art and the Art Students League of New York, he devoted most of his time to marine painting. During World War II he painted numerous illustrations for Life and was a U. S. Army artist correspondent for Yank Magazine overseas. He has illustrated many children's books.
