

CHAPTER

LATIN FOR CHILDREN, PRIMER C
ACTIVITY BOOK!

BRIEFCASE OF CASE

These briefcases need to be labeled. Can you properly finish each label and then connect it to the correct case? There are a few labels that will need more work than others. Are you up for the challenge with this week's 3rd Declension Adjectives (2-Termination)? We've done the first one for you.

Dat (Briefcase)

Nom (Briefcase)

Gen (Briefcase)

Acc (Briefcase)

Word Crossing

Umm,... well, we're not sure who exactly wrote these questions but if you look at them they aren't quite what we were expecting when we mail-ordered them. Can you figure out what English words either rhyme with or are similar in meaning to the gibberish below to figure out the questions? Once you've got them you should be able to finish the puzzle. Be careful, rumor has it that there are a few review words thrown in. 15 Down is done for you.

Edge of the World!

Ever sit on the edge of the world? In this puzzle, we're asking that you don't do this maze normally—you know, where you come to an intersection and you pause with your pen/pencil while your eyes scan ahead. No, in this puzzle you need to use the force and just wander ahead. If you fall off the edge of the world you have to translate the nearest Latin word into English, then pick up your maze-trail where you left off (no short-cuts) and move forward again. Remember, you're not allowed to stop moving your pen/pencil except to translate (and yes, little Billy, that also means you can't move it really really slowly while you scan ahead!). Try it.

Are you a hot-shot mazer? Go back and translate everything!
