

LEARNING

for the Christian family

ABOUT SEX

Sex & the New You

For young men ages 13–15

CONCORDIA PUBLISHING HOUSE • SAINT LOUIS

For Discussion or Individual Use

Book 4 of the Learning About Sex Series for Boys

The titles in the series:

Book 1: Why Boys and Girls Are Different

Book 2: Where Do Babies Come From?

Book 3: How You Are Changing

Book 4: Sex and the New You

Book 5: Love, Sex, and God

Book 6: How to Talk Confidently with Your Child about Sex

Acknowledgments

We wish to thank all medical, child development, and family life consultants who have assisted in the development, updating, and revising of the Learning About Sex series.

Copyright © 1982, 1988, 1995, 1998, 2008 Concordia Publishing House
3558 S. Jefferson Ave., St. Louis, MO 63118-3968.
1-800-325-3040 • www.cph.org

From text originally written by Richard Bimler

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior written permission of Concordia Publishing House.

Scripture quotations, unless otherwise indicated, are taken from the HOLY BIBLE, NEW INTERNATIONAL VERSION®. NIV®. Copyright © 1973, 1978, 1984 by International Bible Society. Used by permission of Zondervan Publishing House. All rights reserved.

Quotations marked KJV are from the King James or Authorized Version of the Bible.

Scripture quotations marked RSV are from the Revised Standard Version of the Bible, copyright 1952, © 1971 by the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America. Used by permission. All rights reserved.

This publication may be available in braille, in large print, or on cassette tape for the visually impaired. Please allow 8 to 12 weeks for delivery. Write to Lutheran Blind Mission, 7550 Watson Rd., St. Louis, MO 63119-4409; call toll-free 1-888-215-2455; or visit the Web site: www.blindmission.org.

Manufactured in the United States of America

CONTENTS

Editors' Foreword	4
1 You've Heard and You've Wondered	5
2 You're Someone Special!	9
3 Gender Is More Than Body Parts	12
4 Is Sex a Secret?	14
5 You're Changing into a New You	16
6 Becoming a Man	22
7 About Girls and Women	26
8 The Miracle of Birth	30
9 Men and Women Are Different, Aren't They?	36
10 Getting Along with Friends	39
11 Getting Along with Family	47
12 Special Questions	50
13 The New You	59
Word List	61

Sometimes I think God made me to be weird and dumb!

Because I'm always messing things up. I don't do anything right. Do you ever feel that way?

Are you kidding? That's just my luck. I found the second person in the world who is weird and dumb!

Why do you say that?

Sure. Lots of times. I think everybody feels that way sometimes.

2

You're Someone Special!

“Am I normal?” many young people ask. It’s so easy to feel alone and different. It’s easy to think that you are the only person feeling the way you do—about your body, your family, yourself. Maybe you feel this way because of the changes in your body. You may feel this way because your body is not growing as rapidly as other boys around you. Or perhaps your body is way ahead of the pack, and that doesn’t feel so good either. Perhaps you are experiencing a growing awareness of sexual thoughts and feelings. You wonder: Are such thoughts normal?

It’s good to have a friend you can talk with when you’re not feeling good about yourself or are confused or puzzled. But it’s especially great to know Jesus as our Friend! He can actually “sympathize with our weaknesses,” the Bible reminds us, because He was “tempted in every way, just as we are—yet was without sin” (Hebrews 4:15). He really knows how we feel, because He was born and grew and went through the teen years too. That’s why we can talk to Him and know He’ll understand.

Even more, as your Savior, He can really help! He lived and died and rose again to make you a child of the heavenly Father. He’s living proof that “the Father Himself loves you” (John 16:27). That’s good to remember when you’re feeling unlovable or guilty or anxious or scared.

The God who loves you and forgives you is the same God who made you. No one else—not even an identical twin—is exactly like you. You are special; you are not a carbon copy of someone else. You look different, you feel different, you think differently than anyone else. You grow at a different rate—maybe in spurts, maybe at a fairly regular pace.

In what ways
has God made you different from anyone else in the world?

But whatever your growth pattern, it's just right for you because God made you and set your pattern into motion. When you accept that, you can accept a lot of the other things about yourself.

So don't quit on yourself! Don't give up hope and quit trying. Perhaps you won't ever be the towering athlete you wish you could be, but you can do a lot with what you've got. Once you accept yourself as you are and decide you're worth taking care of, ask yourself the following questions. The answers you give will suggest what you can do to take care of your body—and your feelings about yourself.

1. How much sleep do I get each night? Do I sometimes harm my body with a lack of rest? How can I improve on this?
2. What are my eating habits? Do they hinder the growth of my body or help it? Am I a junk food addict, or do I eat good, solid, nourishing food? Do I sometimes eat too little or too much? What can I do to help my body by changing some of my eating habits?
3. Are some of my complexion problems caused by what I eat? And do I wash often enough to keep my skin from being too greasy and oily? Should I see a doctor about my skin problems?
4. What about exercise? Is my body mistreated with too much jogging and too much exertion? Or do I get most of my exercise sharpening my pencil or falling out of bed?
5. What are my feelings about smoking? Do I think that doing it will make me one of the group? Or do I take seriously the studies that show the harm and danger in smoking? Am I or will I become one of those teens who smoke, even though it is a fact that smoking is harmful to me and to those around me?
6. And what about drugs? And alcohol? Do I abuse my body by taking drugs and drinking alcohol?

Even if your answers show that you sometimes misuse your body and don't show the concern about it you might,

To which of the following do you relate?

- “What is happening to my body?”
- “Why isn't my body changing yet?”
- “I feel like I am too tall.”
- “I feel like I am too short.”
- “I'm so awkward! I keep tripping over my feet!”
- “I'm so awkward! I keep tripping over my tongue!”
- “My voice cracks.”
- “My face has zits.”
- “No one else has the problems I have; no one ever did.”
- “No one understands me.”
- “I don't understand me.”

How do you know
you are special to Jesus?

God cares. After all, He formed your body and programmed it to work in a certain way, and He gave you common sense to take care of it. Sure, you forget now and then, but He doesn't. Remember, He's got quite an investment in you. "Do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit, who is in you, whom you have received from God? You are not your own; you were bought at a price. Therefore honor God with your body," writes St. Paul (1 Corinthians 6:19–20).

Even if your complexion is poor right now, even if you feel clumsy and awkward, even if you're carrying a physical handicap every moment of the day, you are His, and He's proud of that. Peek in the mirror again. Go ahead—it won't hurt. Look beyond the familiar surface and find the hand of God there. See if you don't feel a little different now—maybe even a little proud. Remember, you are a "work in progress." God is changing you into an adult. But He's not done with you yet!

How do you honor God in the care of your body?

