

Realms of Gold
The Classics in Christian Perspective
By Leland Ryken

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface

Introduction: Reading the Classics for All They're Worth

*Chapter One: Homer's Odyssey and the Value of Myth*

*Chapter Two: Chaucer's Canterbury Tales and the Cosmic Spirit in Literature*

*Chapter Three: Shakespeare's Macbeth and the Tragic Spirit in Literature*

*Chapter Four: Milton's Paradise Lost and the Bible as Literary Influence*

Chapter Five: Poetry and the Christian Life

*Chapter Six: Hawthorne's The Scarlet Letter: What Is a Christian Classic?*

*Chapter Seven: Dickens' Great Expectations and Literature as Recreation*

*Chapter Eight: Tolstoy's The Death of Ivan Ilych and the Truth of Fiction*

*Chapter Nine: Camus' The Stranger and Modern Literature*

Conclusion: Where Do We Go from Here

Index