Teaching with 50 Great Short Stories, edited by Milton Crane

Vocabulary, Comprehension Tests, and Writing Activities

Mary M. Nyman

Table of Contents

Thematic Table of Contents vii
Foreword xi
The Garden Party—Katherine Mansfield
THE THREE-DAY BLOW—Ernest Hemingway
The Standard of Living—Dorothy Parker
The Saint— V. S. Pritchett
THE OTHER SIDE OF THE HEDGE—E. M. Forster
Brooksmith—Henry James
The Jockey—Carson McCullers
The Courting of Dinah Shadd—Rudyard Kipling
The Shot—Alexander Poushkin
Graven Image—John O'Hara
Putois—Anatole France
Only the Dead Know Brooklyn—Thomas Wolfe
A. V. Laider—Max Beerbohm
The Lottery—Shirley Jackson
The Masque of the Red Death—Edgar Allan Poe
LOOKING BACK—Guy de Maupassant
The Man Higher Up—O. Henry
The Summer of the Beautiful White Horse—William Saroyan 64
THE OTHER Two—Edith Wharton
Theft—Katherine Anne Porter
For Esmé—With Love and Squalor—J. D. Salinger
The Man of the House—Frank O'Connor
THE MAN WHO SHOT SNAPPING TURTLES—Edmund Wilson
The Gioconda Smile—Aldous Huxley
The Curfew Tolls—Stephen Vincent Benét
Father Wakes Up the Village—Clarence Day
IVY DAY IN THE COMMITTEE ROOM—James Joyce

The Chrysanthemums—John Steinbeck
The Door—E. B. White
An Upheaval—Anton Chekhov
How Beautiful with Shoes—Wilbur Daniel Steele
A Haunted House—Virginia Woolf
The Catbird Seat—James Thurber
The Schartz-Metterklume Method—Saki (H. H. Munro)
The Death of a Bachelor—Arthur Schnitzler
The Apostate—George Milburn
The Phoenix—Sylvia Townsend Warner
That Evening Sun—William Faulkner
THE LAW—Robert M. Coates
The Tale—Joseph Conrad
A Girl from Red Lion, P. A.—H. L. Mencken
Main Currents of American Thought—Irwin Shaw
The Ghosts—Lord Dunsany
The Minister's Black Veil—Nathaniel Hawthorne
A String of Beads—W. Somerset Maugham
The Golden Honeymoon—Ring Lardner
The Man Who Could Work Miracles—H. G. Wells
The Foreigner—Francis Steegmuller
Thrawn Janet—Robert Louis Stevenson
The Chaser—John Collier
Bibliography 181
Index of Stories

Vocabulary Give the definition and part of speech for each word as it is used in the story. Write sentences with ten words of your choice, and underline the words in the sentences.

foothills shares scrub shaggy clod-hopper snips scratcher smudge coupe aphids sowbugs cutworms terrier transplant crisp burro flaps skirling taut ambassadorial rangy hackles calloused daintily fords asperity fugitive mongrel patented fawning anvil luxurious pumice stubble primly

Questions Write brief answers for the following questions.

- 1. Describe the setting. Why was it a time of "quiet and waiting"?
- 2. Who is Elisa Allen? What is she doing as the story opens? Be specific.
- 3. What statement does Henry make about Elisa's talent for gardening, and how does he wish she might use her talents?
- 4. What business deal has Henry just made?
- 5. How does he plan to celebrate?
- 6. How does Henry joke with Elisa? What is her response?
- 7. Who arrives, and what is his mission?
- 8. What does the author suggest when he says that the man's eyes are full of "the brooding that gets in the eyes of teamsters and of sailors"?
- 9. What is the tinker's annual route, and how long does it take?
- 10. At first, Elisa is annoyed by and resistant to the tinker's sales pitch. What does the tinker do to change her attitude?
- 11. Why does Elisa give the tinker a pot of chrysanthemum shoots?
- 12. Do you believe the tinker's story about the other woman's garden? Why or why not?
- 13. What effect does Elisa and the tinker's discussion of flowers have on Elisa? Describe it.

(continued)

Name	Date
· ·····

- 14. Describe her reaction to the tinker's visit as she prepares for her evening out.
- 15. Comment on the kind of communication that exists between Henry and Elisa based on his comments on her appearance. What is the dark speck in the road, and how does it get there?
- 16. What does Elisa realize when she sees the dark speck?
- 17. Elisa asks to have wine at dinner and suggests she might be willing to go to the fights. Why does she do this?
- 18. Is Elisa aware of the importance of her need to communicate with her husband? If so, how does the reader know?

Writing

"The Chrysanthemums" is a story about communication in a marriage that is not unhappy but does have its limitations. Neither Elisa nor Henry can explain the psychological aspects of their relationship, but the author suggests that Elisa needs more than the marriage offers. She is lonely; she finds more joy and fulfillment in planting her flowers and being close to the earth than she does in her marriage.

Often, relationships are difficult and unfulfilling because people fail to articulate their needs, sometimes because they do not understand what these needs are. One might extend this example of a lack of communication to other family relationships. For example, consider the adolescent and parent who go round and round in repeated arguments that never resolve anything.

Can you think of any situation that might have had a better outcome if methods of communication were improved? Consider a situation you've observed or experienced in which efforts to improve communication have had good results. Examples might involve the use of an apology, constructive criticism, praise, or an explanation.

Write a one-page composition, first presenting a situation, next describing what happened, and then explaining whether communication could have been improved and, if so, how.

Name Date

QUIZ

A. 1	Use each of the f	following words	in a sentence of	your own.	Underline th	ne word in	the sentence.
-------------	-------------------	-----------------	------------------	-----------	--------------	------------	---------------

	aphids
	skirling
	hackles
	asperity
	pumice
B. Writ	te "True" or "False" for each of the following statements about the story.
	1. Henry sells the three men an oil well.
	2. Elisa is a woman who enjoys caring for her flowers.
	3. The tinker repairs two old aluminum saucepans for Elisa.
	4. In appreciation she invites him in for a cup of specially brewed coffee.
	5. Elisa asks Henry if they could have wine for dinner, and she asks him questions about the prize fights.

Key to Questions

- 1. A farming and ranching area on the Salinas River. It is a cold December day, and the farmers are waiting for a good rain.
- 2. She is a thirty-five-year-old farmer and rancher's wife who enjoys her gardening and who meticulously tends her chrysanthemums as required at different seasons of the year. As the story opens she is working in her flower garden.
- 3. She has a "gift with things," and he wishes she would use her talents in his orchards to raise larger apples.
- 4. He has sold thirty head of three-year-old steers.
- 5. He will take Elisa to dinner and to the movies.
- 6. He says he will take her to the fights, to which she objects.
- 7. A tinker who repairs pots and pans and sharpens knives and scissors.
- 8. Open-ended. Perhaps because such people are never satisfied in life. They always want more; they are restless and always on the move.
- 9. He goes from Seattle to San Diego every year, six months each way.
- 10. He starts questioning her about her chrysanthemums.
- 11. The tinker says he will take them to a woman who has no chrysanthemums in her garden.
- 12. Answers may vary. No. He uses it as a sales pitch.
- 13. As Eliza talks about her flowers, the reader can sense her passionate and potentially uncontrollable energy.
- 14. She becomes aware of her own body as she bathes, and she dresses especially carefully as she prepares for her night out with her husband.
- 15. They are verbally awkward and clumsy in their efforts to communicate. He tries to tell her how nice she looks; her reaction is confused, stiff, and standoffish.
- 16. The bunch of chrysanthemum shoots that were thrown off the wagon by the tinker.
- 17. That the tinker is a con man. He has thrown away the chrysanthemum shoots and kept the pot.
- 18. She is trying to reach out to bond with her husband.
- 19. She varies her behavior in order to try to change things, first by asking to have wine with dinner, which is a way of relaxing, and second by suggesting she might accompany him to the fights, something she doesn't think she will like but she will participate in to please her husband. He doesn't understand her needs, but he does care for her. She realizes this, and she tries to get closer to him through changing her own behavior.

Key to Quiz

- A. Answers will vary.
- B. 1. False 2. True 3. True 4. False 5. True